

AMWA weighs in on SAB CCL 5 review

January 10, 2022 at 5:00 AM

Last week, AMWA submitted comments to the Science Advisory Board (SAB) as it reviews EPA's Drinking Water Contaminant Candidate List 5 (CCL 5) – Draft. AMWA highlighted past comments sent to EPA in 2018 and 2021 addressing potential improvements to the CCL 5 process and ways to increase transparency within the agency. In this letter, AMWA emphasized prioritizing the agency's limited resources by focusing on those contaminants most likely to present human health risks through drinking water.

SAB will hold public meetings for stakeholders to provide input and discuss key aspects of the process. Registration is required to receive call-in information. The webinars will be held:

- January 11, from 12:00 pm to 5:00 p.m. ET
- February 16, from 12:00 pm to 5:00 p.m. ET
- February 18, from 12:00 pm to 5:00 p.m. ET

Back to January 10, 2022

---

Source URL: <https://www.amwa.net/article/amwa-weighs-sab-ccl-5-review>

List of links present in page

-