Free EPA webinar on tabletop exercises for water and public health emergency preparedness

May 22, 2023 at 5:30 AM

EPA is hosting a free webinar for the water, healthcare, and public health sectors on Tuesday, May 23, 2023. The webinar will discuss how water utilities, healthcare facilities, nursing homes, public health agencies, and primacy agencies can work together to minimize detrimental impacts to public health caused by disruptions in drinking water quality and services.

Webinar speakers will:

- Discuss the recently conducted exercises at the North Carolina Water, Public Health and Healthcare Coordination Workshop.
- Review the purpose, structure, and outcomes of tabletop exercises as tools for improving emergency management and response.
- Discuss results from the exercise, as well as the pre- and post-event feedback and how participants' perspectives on drinking water contamination responses changed based on the exercises.

Interested attendees should email Chrissy Dangel (<mailto:Dangel.Chrissy@epa.gov>) for the webinar registration link.
